Kurioser Fund in einem Waldkauz-Nistkasten

Quaint finding in a brown owls' nesting box

Abstract

In spring 2007, a carapace of the American map turtle Graptemys nigrinoda was found in Greiz, Thuringia, Germany inside an artificial nesting box for brown owls which was obviously formerly inhabited by a nuthatch. The authors discuss the possible predators and come to the conclusion that it was most likely brought in by a marten.
